AUTO CONTEST IS WARMING UP

Candidates Are Showing Good Sporting Spirit and Entered
Second Period of the Contest
With Splendid Enthusiasm.

The results attained by one of the candidates in the big automobile contest, as published in last week's Bulletin, was probably as big a surprise to the candidate himself as it was to the other contestants. And it speaks volumes for the battle of the others that not one of them lost heart over the big lead their competitor had acquired.
Not a little bit.

"Why, that just makes it so much better sport," was the way Miss Hadfield summed up the situation, as she turned in--well--enough votes to make the other candidates open their eyes when the next count takes place. "Just tell my friends and supporters for me, will you, that though I am the youngest candidate in the contest I am still big enough to run a Ford car--and that's just what I will be doing when this contest is over."

Now that the result of the first count has been published, the candidates have a better idea of the size of the job they have in hand and are
"buckling down to work" in earnest.
There is plenty of evidence of this.

The votes will be counted again on November 14th, that is, all the votes put in 4--beginning up to six o'clock that date. Candidates will no doubt realize the special importance of making the best possible showing for this count. Their friends are watching their progress more closely than ever before. If a good showing is made this time there will be much more support from friends than would otherwise be the case. Remember this.

And it always should be remembered that the only thing that counts in this contest is VOTES. Criticism of a competitor or an opponent's campaign will not get anyone any advantage at all and only tends to embarrass those who are running in the contest. NEV-ER MIND THE OTHER CANDI-DATES--GET ALL THE VOTES
YOU CAN; because this car is going to be given to the candidate who gets the most VOTES.

The contest manager will have a very important announcement to make in next week's Bulletin. Watch for it.
You cannot afford to miss it.

MACLEOD UNIONISTS MEET ON SATURDAY

Retiring Liberal Member Not Likely to Capture the Nomination.

Unionists of Macleod Federal constituency (which includes the Crow's Neat Pass district) met at Macleod on Saturday to select their candidate for the coming election. It was at first thought that Dr. David Warnock, the retiring member, would be the choice of the convention, but it is now stated that Dr. Warnock, who has been in the imperial veterinary service since war broke out, may have to go overseas for a couple of years and will not be in a position to accept.

Other prospective candidates are D.
R. Riley, of High River, Hugh Shaw, of Nanton, John Herron, of Pincher Creek, and J. W. McDonald, of Macleod. Odds are in favor of McDonald.

HOW THE PASS VOTED IN 1911

Socialist Candidate Had Them
All Beat Last Dominion Election
as Far as the Crows Nest Pass District Was Concerned.

Just at this time, on the eve of the election campaign, the following figures, showing the number of votes secured in this district by each of the three candidates at the last Dominion election, will be found interesting:

Place	Francis Hanson	Wanasco
Lundbreck	30	78
Burns	16	20
Passburg	35	30
Belleue	60	37
Hillcrest	124	34
Lille	61	11
Frank	37	42
Blairmore	85	111
Coleman	227	51
	678	443

These figures, however, are not of such value as a guide this election, as, apart entirely from the manner in which the old parties are divided at the present time, the population of the district has undergone a great change since the 1911 election took place.

The popular vote in the three western provinces--Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba--was as follows:

	Con.	Lib.	Ind.
Alberta	29,675	37,308	2,992
Saskatchewan	34,700	52,924	1,419
Manitoba	40,599	34,781	2,550
	104,791	124,913	5,970

These three western provinces elected 10 Conservatives and 17 Liberals, Manitoba alone returning 8 out of the 10 Conservatives elected.

The above figures are taken from the official returns and are authentic.

PARTICULARS ABOUT THE VICTORY BONDS

Every Man in Coleman Should Secure One of These Bonds.

A meeting was held in Blairmore on Wednesday afternoon to complete the work of organization for handling the Victory Bonds throughout the Crow's Neat Pass district. Mr. O. E. S. Whiteside is chairman of The Pass general committee and Mr. J. R. Smith, of Blairmore, is secretary. In addition to these officers, the following captains have been appointed to direct the work of selling the Victory Bonds in the different towns of The Pass:
Bellevue--John Brooks
Hillcrest--Frank Lote
Frank--Evan Morgan
Blairmore--W. H. Chappell
Coleman--Alex. M. Mercer
It was left with each of these captains to select any additional help they might require in their respective towns and in Coleman Mr. Morrison has chosen the following as his associates:
Messrs. Wm. Graham, J. D'Appolonia
and Rev. Fr. Bugalski.

Sir Thomas White has announced the particulars and terms of Canada's Victory Loan as follows:

Subscription books will be opened on Monday, November 12th, for five, ten and twenty year bonds, dated December 1, 1917. Interest paid half yearly--June 1 and December 1. The bonds will be in denominations as low as $50. The price of the new loan is to be par--100 cents on the dollar--for 54 per cent. bonds, with the privilege of spreading the payments over a period of five months in monthly instalments. In view of this privilege, and as a full 4 1/2 months' interest will be paid the purchasers on June 1, 1918, the bonus of interest thus allowed will reduce the price, so that the bonds yield the investor 5.61 per cent. on the 20-year bonds, 5.08 on the 10-year bonds, and 5.81 per cent. on the 5-year bonds. This loan will carry conversion privileges into future issues, and will be free from any present or future Dominion taxes--including income taxes.

Holders of Dominion of Canada debenture stock, October 1, 1910, and of bonds of the three preceding Dominion of Canada war loan issues, have the privilege of surrendering their bonds in part payment for subscriptions to bonds of this issue.

POLITICAL POT BEGINNING TO BOIL

Local Liberals and Unionists
Complete Respective Organizations and Are Lining Up
Their Forces for the Campaign

The Liberals of Coleman held their organization meeting in the Phony hall last Friday evening, when the following officers were elected:

President--Dr. Olivier
First Vice President--A. McLeod
Second Vice President--Mrs. J.
Lombury
Third Vice President--Geo. Clair Fourth Vice President--Frank Bar-ringham
Secretary-Treasurer--S. J. Pizer
Executive Committee--Messrs. R.
McLeod, Chas. Oulmette, J. McDonald,
Geo. Pelletier, John Salvador and A.
Leslie.

The following resolution was also passed by the newly organized association: "Resolved, that this association repudiates the action of Hon.
A. L. Sifton in accepting a portfolio in the cabinet of Sir R. L. Borden, thereby condoning and acquiescing in the past misdeeds of the Borden government, and that copies of this resolution be forwarded to Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Hon. Frank Oliver and Hon.
C. W. Cross."

At a subsequent meeting held Wednesday evening, Messrs. Geo. Clair and Geo. Pelletier were appointed delegates to the Edmonton convention on Saturday. On their way home they will be met at Macleod by Messrs.
R. McLeod and F. Baringham, and these four gentlemen will represent the Coleman Liberals at the nominating convention to be held there on Monday next.

Conservatives Out of Business
A meeting of the Coleman Conservative Association was held on Monday evening, when it was decided to disband entirely and endeavor to meet those Liberals who had resigned from the local Liberal Association with a view to organizing a Unionist Association.

With his object in view a committee was appointed to interview the Liberals concerned and if possible arrange for a joint meeting to complete the work of organization.

A meeting was arranged, which took place in the Phony hall last evening, when the following officers were elected:

President--J. O. C. MacDonald
First Vice President--H. Mercer

DRAGNET OUT FOR YOUNG MEN

Young Men of Class One Who Do Not Make Some Move to Obey Law by Saturday Will be Gathered in by Authorities.

Calgary, Nov. 8.--Registrar J. M.
Carson is arranging with the local police and military authorities of Military District No. 13 to throw out a dragnet next week to bring in all men of class one who have not put in reports for service or claims for exemption. Theatres, cabarets, restaurants, railway stations and other places where crowds gather will be visited and men of military age without papers from the registrar, will be taken into custody.

The local tribunal meet in the council chamber here this week, commencing Thursday at 10 a.m. to consider applications for exemption. As above indicated, those eligible for class one who have not come forward voluntarily by Saturday evening automatically become classified as deserters and are liable to the penalties prescribed by the Military Service Act.

A copy of this act is on file at the Bulletin office, and may be seen there by anyone who wishes to look it over;
but it is not to be taken from the premises.

accordance with the recommendation of the Privy Council. It is well known in Canada that the government has been "until the government-in-council has by order declared that the present abnormal conditions have ceased," the penalty for violation of the regulation is a fine of $5,000 or imprisonment of a term not exceeding six months, or both fine and imprisonment.

Second Vice President--A. J. Mitchell
Third Vice President--Ed. MacDonald.

Secretary-Treasurer--Cecil Gower

LIFTING THE LOAD

A good drawing team is just as much a joy to the man that owns it as it is to be in the bush-hog days. We ask a good deal—some of us—about the great horses we used to handle the ribbons over in the bush, lifting out great loads of that log, sometimes 1,500 feet or 2,000, sometimes more according to the man who was telling it, from the stump to the skidroad and the concession line.

Certainly some of those teams could draw and surely some of their drivers did not as to be able to talk about it. But there are more good average hardy teams in the country now than there were in the bush days. Farmers have gone in for specializing on draughts and roadsters, because they understand that a poor team is bad economy when work has to be done in a hurry. Getting stuck with a load in the field is a dead waste, of time and temper. We used to be stuck often in the old days with those poor teams picked up any old way at an auction sale. But a good span of Clydes or Percherons nowadays is a real piece of insurance against getting stuck with stuck loads. The only thing that happens in that line with such horses is broken harnesses of a snapped double-tree.

Of course a good deal depended on the driver as it does now. One of the best drawing teams, ever known in an Ontario county would pull like a tractor engine for the boss, but when it came to the hired man they were sawed and jumped in the collar like a pair of balky Texas steers. When the boss pulled the lines over them and yelled, "Git down together!" they got down, those Bob Hunters, and lifted the load—heaves, how they could lift it! No matter what the load was, grain or logs, or gravel, it came out of the hold on to the high-road, just by the simple knack of getting down together.

Just now the greatest haul team ever known in Canada are engaged in lifting the biggest load that a team ever stood in front of. The load is: $100,000,000 of Canadian Victory Bonds.

That's a tremendous load. The load is there all right. Canada has the money; twice as much, ready to pile up for victory. It's a matter of lifting the load. It's a matter of what team is going to do it, and who will be the driver.

What's the best team for this job? The Canadian war-er and the Government of Canada. If those two can't lift a great part of that load, you might as well leave it alone.

Who is the driver? A great boss named Victory. VICTORY!

NEXT WEEK'S BLUEBIRD

"The Reward of the Faithless" is the name of the Bluebird's special feature, which will be put on at the Rex theatre next Wednesday evening. According to the story of the play, Guido Caprelli was an adventure living by his wits and succeeding so well that he had access to the most exclusive society of St. Petersburg. There he met Princess Dione Ragosin and when her father died he applied the artistry of his sympathetic craftiness so skillfully that the girl fell in love with him, and they were married. Not content with having gained this much, Guido covered Katerina Vlassoff, a girl Princess Dione had rescued from the streets. Incited by envy and spurred on by the crafty Guido the girl joined in the villain's plot against the Princess. When they thought the Princess dead, the conspirators lived undisturbed in enjoyment of their sin. But when the awakening came, they paid the penalty of their villainy and Princess Dione was avenged. In brief this is the outline of the story to be told in gripping episodes in "The Reward of the Faithless," with Wedgewood Nowell and Betty Schade playing the leading roles. Rex program made the production. Don't miss it.

Four young women were slashed in the noon time crowds on Broadway, New York, one day last week, with a potato knife. "Polo," who arrested after the struggle, told the police a rambling story of being bothered for 12 years by women, against whom he decided to avenge himself. New York will stand for almost any sort of crime, but apparently paring peaches with a potato knife is not tolerated.

Both Hon. A. L. Sifton and the editor of the Calgary Alberta Free were in the room when Mr. J. G. Turiff offered his conscription amendment, which went begging for a seconder, at the Winnipeg convention. If these two gentlemen are sincere and honest in their attitude towards present political situation it would do them no harm to take the electors into their confidence at this time and explain just how it was that neither of them offered to second Mr. Turiff's amendment. Were they not in favor of conscription at that time? And if not, what caused them to change their mind? Brother Clifford?

A circular letter reached the editor's desk this week from the office of Food Controller Hanna giving a list of several foods for which potatoes are a good substitute. And any one of the several articles mentioned costs less in Coleman today than potatoes do. Food Controller Hanna might polish off his glass a little, and then take a look to see who it is that is holding up the price of spuds to their present exorbitant figure. It is simply a waste of time for the government to give out promises of the suppression of profiteering when the Irish lemons are selling at $2.00 a sack (notwithstanding the fact that there is a visible surplus of several million bushels) and when Flavelle bacon sells in Detroit for 35¢ a pound and in Toronto for 55¢. The Good Book says: "By their works ye shall know them."

Jr. de Van's Female Pills
A reliable French regulator; never fails. These pills are exceedingly powerful in regulating the reproductive portion of the female system. Keep all cheap imitations. Dr. de Van's are sold at 25¢ a box, five for $1.25. Write to any address. The Scott Drug Co., St. Catharines, Ont.

SAM MOORE - PROPRIETOR

LAURIER'S MANIFESTO

Ottawa, Ont., October 4. Sir Wilfrid Laurier has issued his manifesto in a document addressed to the Canadian people. The opposition leader declares his policy and outlines his aims on all important questions of participation in the war. Sir Wilfrid claims that a fundamental objection to the government's policy of conscription is that it conscripts human life only and that it does not attempt to conscript wealth, resources, or the services of any persons other than those who come within the age limit prescribed by the military service act. The first duty of a Laurier administration would be "to find the men, money and resource, necessary to ensure the fullest measure of support to our heroic soldiers at the front and to enable Canada to continue to the very end of the war part to win the war." To this Sir Wilfrid adds: "As to the present military service act, my policy will be not to proceed further under its provisions until the people have an opportunity to pronounce upon it by way of a referendum. I pledge myself to submit the act to the people and with my followers to carry out the wishes of the majority of the nation as thus expressed." A remedy for an economic situation "which is admittedly critical," Sir Wilfrid promises: "Tariff reductions; control of food supplies and prices. Stop to profiteering. The two increases in the tariff made since the beginning of the war would be removed. These are: Seven and one-half per cent on all commodities coming into Canada from outside Great Britain and five per cent on goods coming from Great Britain. We also should immediately remove the duties on agricultural implements and other essentials of the western farmers."

In connection with the high cost of living he would "take drastic steps to bring under government control all food production factories so that food may be sold at a fixed price under the control of the government. If satisfactory arrangements could not be made with the food production factories," Sir Wilfrid declares, "he would not hesitate to commandeer. The manifesto proceeds: "One of the most important contributions toward winning the war is to put a stop to profiteering on war supplies for the benefit of the nation. A first duty of my administration would be to assist the country which pays for war supplies the excess of profits being realized by profiteers." If necessary, Sir Wilfrid continues, he would not hesitate to take control of factories engaged in the supply of war necessities. Suitable government shops, says Sir Wilfrid, believes, should be turned to the production of war materials at cost prices.

NEXT WEEK'S "PATRIA"

In compliance with the condition required by Patria in settling the strike, the employees of Channing's great munition works are organized for preparedness and undergo military training under the leadership of Captain Parr in the 10th episode of "Patria" to be a feature at the Rex theatre next Tuesday. The uniforms and accoutrements are furnished by Patria, who also visits the factory and presents the new organization with a standard of colors and great enthusiasm.

Huroki, the foreign intriguer who is hiding to escape arrest on account of the Black Tom disaster, resolves to frustrate Patria's plans and thus defeat other great manufacturers from following her example in putting the country in a state of "preparedness." He has long been organizing and drilling military units composed of all foreign employees within a wide radius of every great industrial center and he orders all of those in striking distance of Channing's to assemble there at night and cause a riot. They do so, coming from all directions in automobiles, and begin to shoot up the town.

The Channing military organization being prepared to resist the attack under the leadership of Captain Parr after a sharply contested battle. The rioters are routed and flee, hotly pursued by the Channing forces. Meanwhile, Huroki has informed Patria in New York that the riot is in progress, and she rushes to the scene in her special train. Huroki has torn up a rail on a high trestle and the train is wrecked, but Patria being on the rear platform of her car is thrown clear of the wreck and her fall is broken by the telegraph wires.

Captain Parr, in an automobile pursuing the fleeing tools of the wily Huroki, arrives and rescues her. Together they continue the pursuit, singling out Huroki's car, he having determined to escape the country. The chase is hot and furious, until Huroki, in desperation, deliberately drives his car off a cliff and falls with it to the water below.

EXEMPTION TRIBUNALS

MILITARY SERVICE ACT 1917

For the Attention of Class One Men

The location of The Exemption Tribunals in this district is as follows:—

Tribunal Alta. No. 78--Coleman

These Tribunals will commence to deal with claims for exemption on November 8th.

All claims for exemption must be made not later than November 10th.

Those who make or have made their claim for exemption in writing through the Post Office will receive notice by registered letter of date on which their claim will be dealt with.

Those who neglect to make use of the Post Office must present themselves in person at a Tribunal on November 8th or 10th, and they will then be informed as to when their claims will be dealt with.

Reports for service must be made on or before November 10th through the Post Office.

Severe penalties are provided by law for failure to report for service or claim exemption as above.

Issued by The Military Service Council.

The Military Service Act, 1917

DON'T DELAY! Do It TODAY

THE MILITARY SERVICE ACT is passed; the Proclamation issued October 13th. It is now the bounden duty of every man in Class One to report for service or claim exemption. This includes all bachelors and widowers without children (not otherwise excepted) who were 20 years old on the 13th October, 1917, and whose 34th birthday did not occur before January 1st, 1917.

What To Do

Go to your Post Office and ask for the form for reporting for service or for claiming exemption. The form contains clear instructions for filling in. Do this not later than NOVEMBER 10th.

Beware of the Last Minute Rush

With so many thousands of reports and claims to be dealt with, the rush of Class One Men will grow heavier day by day. You will waste less of your time and serve your own best interests if you avoid the inevitable rush on the last days.

The law is being enforced with the Government and the People firmly behind it. Obey the law. Do it today.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST LAND REGULATION.

The sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter-section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the District. Entry by proxy may be made at any Dominion Lands Agency (but not Sub-Agency), on certain conditions.

Duties—Six months residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres, on certain conditions. A habitable house is required except where residence is performed in the vicinity.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter-section alongside his homestead. Prices $3.00 per acre.

Duties—Six months residence in each of three years after erecting homestead patent; also 80 acres extra cultivation. Pre-emption patent may be obtained as soon as homestead patent on certain conditions.

A settler who has exhausted his homestead rights may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price, $3 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate 80 acres and erect a house worth $300.

The area of cultivation is subject to reduction in case of rough, scrubby or stony land. Live stock may be substituted for cultivation under certain conditions.

What Will Canada's Answer Be?

OVER in the sodden trenches amid the bursting shells and the roar of artillery where Canada's boys are fighting and dying.

—they are waiting for Canada's answer when the sale of Victory Bonds begins.

CANADA'S soldiers expect that we at home will put up the millions they need to keep on fighting.

—the millions they must have to win Victory for freedom, home and Canada.

What answer will Canada make?

What answer will you make?

Shall it be said that Canada spares not her sons from the sacrifice of battle, yet withholds her dollars to give them victory?

Rather will it be said that Canada once more, for the fourth time in three years, cheerfully puts up her millions upon millions for the cause of freedom, righteousness and justice.

Canada's answer must be,

—that the Canadian hand to the plow of Victory holds steadfast and firm.

—that Canada is in deadly earnest when she says the "last man and the last dollar."

That is the answer Canada will give to our boys in the trenches, our kinsmen in Britain, and our Allies everywhere.

That is the answer we will give to the Huns who thought and said that Canada would desert the Empire before she would fight or pay.

Every bond you buy is an answer. Let the millions of answers from Canada's loyal men and women make a chorus of Victory to ring around the world.

Britain Increases

Army and Navy Pay

Advance in Pay Involves Sum of $50,000,000 Pounds for First Year

The British cabinet has increased the army and navy pay, although the increases are small compared with the American and Colonial standards. Proficiency pay at the rate of from three to six pence a day will be payable after six months' service instead of two years, as under the present army rule. There is also an increase of a penny a day for each year of war service. The present compulsory allotment of six pence daily for private and ten pence for sergeants is abolished.

The navy increase is about the same rate of pay, but the advance to the army and navy now amount to 225,000,000 pounds yearly. The increases involve $50,000,000 pounds for the first year.

Automobiles in Canada

Motorists continue to be a most vigorous activity in Canada, according to figures given in the Toronto Star, an estimate of $50,000,000 being placed as the worth of cars manufactured in this country this year. Those purchased in the same period are placed at 100,000, or five times the number acquired in 1914, or one to about 52 of the population in Canada. This occupies third place among the nations of the world in the use of automobiles—the United States being first, with 3,000,000 for 17,000,000 people and Britain second with 275,000. This is certainly going some for a young country like ours, with its sparse population; but it must not be overlooked that no inconsiderable number are utilized for pleasure and industrial purposes, causing much economic saving in time and labor. Many users are not joy-riders.—Hamilton Spectator.

Uncle Sam's Soldiers

Origin of the Marks of Rank are Explained

The marks of rank on the clothing of American military officers are not the same as those used in the British army. An officer with General Pershing's force has explained their origin. The oak leaf, he says, is worn by a captain, and the poplar leaf by a major, because the poplar grows taller than the oak. The eagle signifies a colonel, because the eagle soars over the poplar. The stars are for generals, because the eagle looks towards the stars which shine over all.

An officer's coat sleeve has brown braid round it, while the sailor's has merely two rows of stitching. The overcoat of an officer is cuffless and has various braiding to denote rank, while the enlisted man's overcoat has a cuff. The officer also has two bone buttons on the back of his overcoat belt; the enlisted man's two bronze buttons bearing the United States arms.—London Tit-Bits.

Accidents to Aviators

Performing Complicated Evolutions Proved a Source of Danger

Accidents of course, are inevitable, and it may not be too frequent in proportion to the number of men who are now in the air every day. It is for the authorities to judge of that, just as it is for them to judge whether an undue number of these accidents can be attributed to avoidable causes. But we are bound to say that the increasing tendency of aviators in this country to perform complicated evolutions very close to the ground suggests to the lay observer that needless risks are being taken. Practice in tactics of this kind is an essential part of the training of the fighting pilot. Except for this purpose, however, and especially in the earlier stages of training, we should have thought them unnecessary and unjustifiably dangerous, however alluring they may be to the building pilot. If so, they should be prohibited at once.—London Times.

The Future of Germany

Will Suffer from an Economic and Social Boycott

Whether victorious or defeated, Germany is likely to suffer for many years from a social and economic boycott, not necessarily inspired by any government, but the voluntary action of individuals with whom the feeling of resentment will be keen and lasting. It is probable that the feeling will be before any Frenchman or Briton will, without urgent necessity, have business relations with Germany. Travel between the countries will be paralyzed for few Frenchmen or Britons will enter Germany and still fewer Germans will be welcomed in France or Great Britain.

We hardly realize the intensity of feeling that will be the result of the barter of this war. The conclusion seems reasonable that the material prosperity of Germany will suffer immeasurably for years to come from this economic and social boycott, and it is unlikely that it will be mitigated further.

That much of the resentment of the world will disappear if Germany were to be transformed into a republic or monarchy into a republic or limited monarchy by detaching the Hohenzollern territory, that the business interests of Germany will find opportunity to suggest in no unmeaning way that, as Germany sacrificed itself for the prestige of the Kaiser, it should be allowed to sacrifice his crown for the prestige of the Kaiser's people.—Harpers.

Mrs. A. C. Smith, Goodwood, Ont., writes: "I have used Baby's Own Tablets for the past two years and have found them the best medicine for my children. The Tablets never fail to banish the usual time this fall to children, to regulate the bowels, sweeten the stomach and make the cross child bright, healthy and happy. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Ate Onions Like Apples

Lady Shackleton gives the interesting information that the members of her husband's expedition found the greatest benefit from eating raw onions like apples. The ironical title of "violet" conferred on her for an obvious reason, explains why onions are banned, but their nutritive and tonic value, particularly in cold conditions, is beyond question. In the Peninsula, where the cold is the rule, the pick of the family, just as in this country they would be banished by the electric and the advantage of the onion. Before the war, says, carrying their string of onions were a familiar sight every season in English streets.—From the London Globe.

The Oldest Written Word

An Investigator Says It Is Thalg, Sals, or Tale, Meaning Ice or Snow

In an editorial discussion of the oldest written word in the International Medical Journal declares it to be a word meaning ice or snow, which in various places takes the sound of thalg, sals, and tale. Here is the writer's argument:

How many, if asked what is the oldest word found in an extant document and still in use, mark you, the oldest root—could answer correctly? And yet the word is one appearing frequently in our advertising columns, and it is the name of a therapeutic agent and toilet article in common use.

"In the office copies of the letters and instructions given to the envoys of the heretic king of Egypt, Amenhotep, (Amenaphis IV.) in the fourteenth century, B.C., which office copies were discovered at Tell-el-Amarna, there occurs a passage which was read as follows: 'We hope that the sale will not interfere with you.'

"It was taken for granted that 'sale' was the name of some warlike tribe in the hills of northern Syria, but it was remarkable that a tribe, powerful enough to brave the wrath of such great monarchs as those between whom this correspondence was passing, should not be mentioned in various places, takes the sound of thalg, sals, and tale.

"Pondering this, a philologist remembered that sals, thalg, and I were interchangeable with Semitic languages. For example, the name that we imitated the northern Semites called the Turks, call Osman, is spelled and in southern Arabia is pronounced Othman, while the empire of Othman is known to Europeans as the Ottoman empire. Now, there exists in the Semitic languages a word for ice or snow which, in various places, takes the sound of thalg, sals, and tale.

The mystery was thus cleared up. The envoys had to pass the mountains of northern Syria in winter, and their august master expressed a hope that the ice or snow would not interfere with their passage. The Egyptians, having no acquaintance with ice or snow, would naturally borrow a word from their northern neighbors.

When the Arabs desired to give a name to the fabulous magnesian sals, they chose one which suggested its resemblance to ice, and they called it tale."

New Military Hospital

Six Hundred Bed Convalescent Hospital to Be Erected in Montreal

Announcement is made by the military hospitals commission that it will erect a six hundred bed convalescent hospital on property adjacent to the Macdonald College, site at Ste. Anne de Bellevue, Montreal. McGill University will be associated with the construction of the project. An order-in-council ratifying the transaction has been passed.

Construction will begin at once and the institution will be ready for occupation by the new year. The plan provides an expansion to 900 beds if necessary.

This decision to erect an institution of this large size was prompted by the fact that the existing hospital place in the character of the treatment accorded the returned soldiers.

The new institution will consist of a central administration block with 150 beds, containing 150 beds. Smaller wings in close contact will contain equipment for the latest type of administration of special treatments such as the various types of electric treatment, continuous baths, whirlpool baths, needle baths, vapor baths, etc. Corrective apparatus for functional training and re-education of impaired mental and physical faculties will be installed. There will be special buildings for the accommodation of doctors, nurses, orderlies, etc., for vocational training, for recreation and amusements. A power plant to be part of the scheme.

The kitchen and dining room will be the rear connected to the main building by corridors. The kitchen will be equipped with the latest type of steam cookers, serving tables, etc., and a modern refrigerating plant will be installed.

The building will be of the type of construction adopted by the military hospitals commission for its new work, being fire-proof and durable, although not expensive.

Salmon Uncertain

Canners say the outlook is serious in B.C. The only hope for the future is to start fishing the Sound for at least four years to allow for the reproduction of sockeye.

The loss of a single catch exceeding 100,000 sockeye or "pinks" the traps are yielding little more than 20,000 at this time.—Montreal Weekly Witness.

Saskatchewan's Crop of Potatoes

Saskatchewan will have over 5,000,000 bushels of potatoes this year, according to the estimate of the department of agriculture, which places the acreage at 92,264.

The Kaiser's Hopeless Task

Prefers the Horrors of War to the Terrors of Reckoning

People have wondered why the Kaiser has clung so long—and still clings—to his hopeless task, with all its bloody sacrifice. May it not be that he prefers even the horrors of war to the terrors of reckoning what peace will bring? War at least is a distraction, and he may well shrink from the cold light of peace thrown on a bankrupt Germany—bankrupt not only in the financial sense, but also in the physical, for in using up 1919 class today the Kaiser is drawing heavily on the future, and working his man-power on credit as well as his finance.

No wonder there is evidence of growing peace-hunger among the people of Berlin—may be, of whom would be glad to hand over not only Belgium and Alsace-Lorraine and all the German colonies but the Kaiser and the Crown Prince along with them. And hence the growing anxiety in the governments—Glasgow Herald.

MISCONCEPTIONS AS TO THE CAUSE AND AIMS OF THE WORLD WAR

UNITED STATES FIGHTING FOR SELF-PRESERVATION

Lord Northcliffe Says Many People are Deluded by Pro-German Propagandists Into Supposing That This is a Commercial War, But Points Out the Uter Fallacy of Such Reasoning

That the American people are not fighting to make the world safe for democracy, but to make it safe for themselves is the opinion expressed by Lord Northcliffe, head of the British mission in the United States, in an article printed in the October issue of Current Opinion Magazine. The article, which is headed, "What America is Fighting For," says: "If this country had meant to take up arms in defense of British or French interests, or in the interest of Belgium, or in order to spread democracy, it would not have waited until April, 1917. If its aims had been commercial, it would have been in the war long ago. The motive which brought the United States in was not sympathy for any other nation, was not desire for gain, was not an abstract fondness for democracy as opposed to autocratic government; it was self-interest, self-preservation, and self-respect."

Lord Northcliffe says that the only way for America to make the world safe for herself is to defend herself. He admits that her theory of a state which has no conscience, a state which can do no wrong, is out of date. "The German people," he adds, "have been purposely included into the belief that they are defending themselves against foes who are set upon crushing them out of existence. A design which nobody but a lunatic would conceive or imagine possible of execution. Austria fancies that she went to war to defend herself against Russia, the truth being that she was used as a cat-paw by the Hohenzollern gung. Bulgaria is still under the delusion that she will gain the reward promised her by Prussian Junkerdom for her treachery to her fellow Slavs."

"Even among the allies there exist misconceptions as to the causes and aims of the struggle. A number of English people believe that Britain could have kept out of the conflict if Belgium had not been invaded. These people are also unable to understand that Prussia's object in forcing war upon France and Russia was in order to clear the road out of the way and be able to attack England, and, in course of time, the United States, with a good prospect of success later on. Propagandists have infected many with the crazy notion that the new republic has no interests of its own to defend against Germany, and only remains in the war for the benefit of France and Britain. I have heard French people speak as if their country took up arms for the purpose of regaining Alsace and Lorraine, whereas we know that France would never have brought upon the world the frightful calamity of war for selfish aims."

"Here in the United States, I am told, and I have discovered proof for myself, that there are people deluded by German and pro-German propagandists into supposing that this is a commercial war. It is not very easy to make out exactly what these people mean by that expression. So far as I can learn, they suppose that the cause of the war was commercial rivalry, and that the combatants are each seeking to obtain control of the world's markets."

Denying that the allies are at war for commercial reasons, Lord Northcliffe asks: "What would have been the good of Britain going to war with Germany in order to secure markets? As soon as such a war was over, they would have been open to Germany as freely as to British trade. The German vice-chancellor, Dr. Helfferich, has asserted that Germany's object was 'the economic oppression of Germany.' How could Britain oppose the nation economically as long as she allowed the traders of all nations to compete with their own traders upon equal terms?"

"The peoples of the British empire did not want war. They had nothing to gain from war. They were threatened. They were attacked. Whether Russia had invaded Belgium or not, Britain would have been obliged to fight in self-defense. It was not Brussels that the Germans wanted when 'for strategic reasons' they marched their troops across the Belgian frontier which they had signed a solemn contract to respect. They wanted Belgium, which Napoleon called, with clear-sighted understanding, 'a pistol pointed at the heart of England.' They wanted an outlet for their ocean-going submarines. They wanted Calais."

"The delusion industriously sown in the United States by Germans and those who are in favor of Prussianism, including, among others, many Irishmen, that Britain always fights for commercial advantages has been a Prussian slander. Treitschke, the writer on whose teaching Kaiser Wilhelm II. was nurtured, taught that England's wars were always fought with a view to the conquest of markets. He did not explain why England should take so much trouble to conquer markets, seeing that she had the whole world, including Germany, the benefit of access to them."

The German Reply

Is Merely an Effort to Save Hohenzollernism

No negotiation can be entered into with the present German government, says the writer on whose teaching Kaiser Wilhelm II. was nurtured, including, among others, many Irishmen, that Britain always fights for commercial advantages has been a Prussian slander. Treitschke, the writer on whose teaching Kaiser Wilhelm II. was nurtured, taught that England's wars were always fought with a view to the conquest of markets. He did not explain why England should take so much trouble to conquer markets, seeing that she had the whole world, including Germany, the benefit of access to them."

At present Germany proposes nothing except that the war be ended by a promise on the part of the victors to reduce its army reciprocally with other nations, a promise which Germany would not fulfill. A promise that England reduce its navy, a promise which Germany would expect England faithfully to fulfill; and a promise of the nation to arbitrate in future, a promise that Germany would laugh to scorn the moment it suited her. She sees the issue of the war as 'the freedom of the seas,' seas that are as free in times of peace as they are in times of war. England, and this is an issue which does not concern in the least the rest of the world, not even Austria. The rest of the world sees the German government as the issue. The German government knows it well, and the whole world knows it. The German government is in Berlin and transcribed with forebodings in Vienna, is merely an effort to save Hohenzollernism.—From the New York Times.

The Country Churches

Many country churches are strong, are today numerically weak because the young are leaving the country villages for some congested metropolitan centers. This is a mighty factor in the moral world and deserve every possible encouragement. The country churches are the district centres around the little church and when that church declines, rural society disintegrates.—Flintville Echo.

"I've come to kill a printer," said the little man.

"Any printer in particular?" asked the foreman, obligingly.

"Oh, any one will do. I would prefer a small one, but I've got to make some sort of a show, so I'll leave him some one your paper called my wife's tea party a 'swill affair.'"

Germans Have Evolved New Air Terror

Gotha Bombing Machine Constitutes Real Menace

The repeated attacks on London from the air and the increasing number of planes and aerial craft with which the German designers are evolving a more powerful type of air vessel than the British. Were the newest type of Gothas used in the flight over London and the eastern counties recently, it is the question which is being asked on all sides.

"When the Gothas assemble over London in organized formation, beyond reach of anti-air guns, the pride of England will be lowered." This is the prophecy of the Lokai Anseger, semi-official newspaper in Berlin. "The same paper once predicted, that 'with carefully-planned ruthlessness it should not be difficult for our U-boats to compel the allied powers to listen to the sincerity of our desire for an honorable peace. One thing would establish the German empire in safety from allied intrigues and from the naval possibilities by England. It is the hope of the enemy will be doomed, like the first, to bitter disappointment.'"

The characteristics of the new bombing plane of the enemy, however, are not to be ignored. The Gothas are not a simple machine with a span of about 80 feet from tip to tip of the wings, and has a length of about 100 feet. The height of the machine is about 12 feet. The body, or fuselage, is similar to that of the ordinary tractor bi-plane, familiar to all, but instead of having an engine in the nose, this compartment is occupied by a gun-ner, carrying on the front of the machine.

The forward gun commands an arc of rather more than a semi-circle, horizontally and vertically, so that it can fire anywhere inside a sky area representing rather more than a hemisphere around the front of the machine. The bombs, twelve in number, are carried under the pilot's compartment, which is between the upper and lower wings and immediately behind the forward gun. The rear gun is not affected whether the case is full or empty. Two extra bombs can be carried under the forward gunner's compartment if desired.

Well aft of the pilot, behind the wings, is a large cockpit for the rear gunner, who has a gun on the top of the fuselage which covers the whole after hemisphere of sky and can fire at any angle. The machine, when attacking from above or from either side is subject to the fire of both the forward and after guns. Behind the forward gun there is a third gun on the floor of the after cockpit, firing behind or downward. The writer on whose teaching Kaiser Wilhelm II. was nurtured, including, among others, many Irishmen, that Britain always fights for commercial advantages has been a Prussian slander. Treitschke, the writer on whose teaching Kaiser Wilhelm II. was nurtured, taught that England's wars were always fought with a view to the conquest of markets. He did not explain why England should take so much trouble to conquer markets, seeing that she had the whole world, including Germany, the benefit of access to them."

The One Clear Duty

We are Now at the Parting of the Ways

We must fight against weakness. It is cowardly of us. We must neither cry, nor whine, nor think about being weary, nor have the war. We at home have one clear duty, that is to support by every means in our power moral and material, our sons, who are bearing themselves so bravely against the enemy. They are not weary, and we have no right to be weary either. "We are at the parting of the ways." One road leads to victory, the other to defeat. These are the only two roads open to us, and we have got to choose between them. All talk about a third road through Stockholm, Rome, or elsewhere is a device of the enemy to help his own neck. We must help us to victory. Courage, resolution, endurance will. Did not the British, after Waterloo, in the French firing now? Bleeding from every pore, they are facing the foe with the heroism of men who are out to win.—London Observer.

Bohe Surgery Marvels

A reserve officer in the United States medical corps who recently returned to the States from Great Britain is loud in his praises of the work in bone surgery being done in British hospitals. He says: "They can take a rib from a man and use it to replace a crushed bone in his arm. Patients who in earlier times would have been considered permanently disabled are now fixed up in a few weeks so that they can go back to the front. In a single month, in one hospital, we had 1,350 bone cases, and 1,000 of them were ready at the end of the month to go back to the front again."

Our Starving Allies

Position of Invaded Serbia Becomes More and More Serious

The following appeal for help and justice for the starving Serbian people appears in "La Serbie," a weekly paper published by Serbs in exile, and edited by Dr. Lazar Mirkovic, a professor of hygiene in the University of Belgrade.

The position of invaded Serbia becomes more and more serious. The population awaits help, which is not present, and it is in absolute insufficiency measure.

The reasons invoked by the allied powers against the sending of foodstuffs to Serbia do not preclude and ought not to preclude the sending of help which, while relieving the famished Serbian population, would in no way weaken the effects of the blockade.

The questions committee for Serbian relief provides a sufficient guarantee that the foodstuffs and other indispensable articles will be distributed among the Serbian population and that this distribution will in no way replace rationing according to the invaders. As regards flour, in the first place there are in Serbia a great number of people who are in a fever of bread to eat, often than once a week. Then there are things that are totally lacking for example, milk, which is no longer to be found in Serbia, or are so costly that the population is not in a position to obtain them.

To supply all this to the Serbs would in no way diminish the effects of the blockade, because the persons who would not feed the invaders, for the simple reason that they are receiving no food from the invaders.

One sees, therefore, that military necessities and the exigencies of the blockade are not in any way reconciled, and with a little more good-will one could arrive at satisfactory results.

It is the duty of the Serbian representatives to explain to our British and American allies that there is no question of any action in favor of the enemy but of the saving of the Serbian population, which is the only thing that counts.

We make appeal to the generosity so largely and so often displayed of our British and American allies. The Americans, to rescue our unhappy compatriots from an appalling situation. One may say the same thing of the Serbs and their prisoners of war, whose fate is most tragic.

Amazing Record of Dash, Gallantry, Intuition and Skill

Stirring stories of British bravery are related in the official Gazette in announcing the awarding of nine new Victoria Crosses. Five of the recipients are from the Australian forces, and the most remarkable case was that of Second Lieutenant Thomas Gaylor-Ferguson, of the 1st Battalion, 1st Cavalry Division.

A bad situation had arisen, and it was impossible for his company to move to its original position. The men were owing to the difficulties of the ground, the enemy's wire, and the fact that he found himself with only a few men left. He carried out the attack, capturing the enemy trench and dislodging the enemy. He was awarded the Victoria Cross for his bravery.

Then, assisted by an orderly only he attacked and captured an enemy machine gun and turned it upon his enemies, killing many of them and driving many others into the hands of an adjoining British force. Later, assisted only by the sergeant, he attacked and captured a second enemy machine gun. He was then joined by other portions of his company, and so was able to consolidate his position. His conduct throughout is an amazing record of dash, gallantry and skill, for which no reward can be too great in view of the importance of the position won. This gallant officer was shortly afterwards killed by a sniper.

What Britain Did

Great Britain first of all upset the German plans for a quick and not costly military victory by every means in her power. She has done this. Great Britain upset these plans by entering the war and by sea power alone reversed the conditions of the German blockade. The German, not French ports were blockaded. Germany, not France, was thrown back upon her self and forced to rely upon intensive interior development of materials and munitions. France was saved by the British fleet and the Germans recognized it by hating the British in a ferocious ecstasy.—From the Chicago Tribune.

Rev. G. Fulton, of Blairmore, will occupy the pulpit of the Institutional church on Sunday next, November 11th. Mr. Allan will be in Blairmore.

Mr. H. C. McBurney has a particularly interesting tale to tell this week. Don't fail to ask him about it the first time you are in the drug store.

A large number of Coleman people attended the masquerade ball at Blairmore on Tuesday evening and report having had a splendid time. One is always sure of a pleasant time at a Blairmore dance.

Mrs. J. O. C. MacDonald and family returned Sunday week from Nova Scotia, where they had been visiting relatives for several months. Their many Coleman friends are glad to welcome them back again.

A pretty wedding was solemnized at the residence of the bride's parents, Crystal Dairy, Blairmore, on Wednesday, by which Frederick Arthur Crayford, of Cowley, and Miss Nellie Comfort, of Blairmore, became man and wife.

The tea and pantry sale held in the council chamber on Saturday afternoon in aid of the fund to provide maple sugar for the Canadian boys at the front was very well patronized and was a success in every way. $45 was taken in.

The young ladies of Mrs. Graham's class greatly enjoyed a social evening in the parish hall Monday, when a most delightful time was spent in cards and other games and amusements. Refreshments were also served during the evening.

The first communion for those recently confirmed will take place in St. Alban's church on Sunday next at 8 o'clock a.m. Their friends are asked to be present also. Service will be held in the evening at 7 o'clock, when the choir will sing the anthem, "Like as a Hart." The subject of the address will be: "Thirst for God."

August Verheis, of Bush-town, against whose property the school board issued a distress warrant recently, arranged to pay his taxes in full, as well as the costs of the procedure, and thus forestalled the sale which was scheduled to come off last Saturday. The secretary-treasurer is now getting ready for the "next episode," as they say at the movies.

The Rev. Dr. Heustis, secretary of the Lord's Day Alliance, delivered a most forceful lecture on "The War and Our National Ideals" in the Institutional Church on Friday evening, November 2nd. There was a good attendance. The following were elected officers for the coming year: President, Mr. W. L. Ouimette; vice-presidents, the clergymen; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. D. K. Allan.

Rod and Gun for November, which is now on the news-stand, contains as usual many stories and articles of particular interest to the lover of outdoor life and sportsmen generally. J. J. Fraser in this issue describes the "Joys of the Winter Camp" and Charles Cansell writes of the Wood Buffalo of our North-western Canadian plains. Fred Copeland tells an entertaining story, "The Dominic's Mascot," and there are many more stories intervening between these and the regular departments devoted to Fishing, Guns and Ammunition, Kennel, Along the Trap Line, etc.

A local clergyman went to a certain home in Coleman a few days ago to christen the young son of one of our citizens, whom we will call Mr. Blank, because that is not his name. "Blank," said the minister solemnly, taking his host aside before the ceremony, "are you prepared for this solemn event?" "Oh, yes, indeed," Blank beamed. "I've got two hams, three gallons of ice cream, pickles, cake—" "No, no, Blank," said the clergyman with a smile, "No, no, my friend, I mean spiritually prepared. Well I guess you'll have demijohns of whiskey and three cases of beer!" Blank cried in triumph.

A surprise party took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew McLeod on Tuesday evening, when a large number of their personal friends called to pay their respects to Mrs. McLeod's brother, Mr. A. Fraser, who was on the eve of leaving for his home in Cape Breton. Progressive whist was the game of the evening, in which five tables participated, Mr. W. G. Fraser winning first prize, while Miss Purdy captured the consolation prize. During the evening Mr. A. Fraser, who is an accomplished vocalist and a musician of rare ability, favored the gathering with several excellent selections, which were greatly enjoyed and appreciated by all present. A dainty lunch was served before the guests departed for their homes. Mr. Fraser left Wednesday evening for the east.

The marriage of Mr. Charles Bellie to Miss Stella O'Neil took place in the Holy Ghost church here on Monday forenoon at 10.30 o'clock. Rev. Fr. Bajalski performed the ceremony in the presence of a large number of friends and relatives of the contracting parties. After the nuptial knot had been tied, the company proceeded to the opera house, where a reception and dance was held. At this function a collection was taken in aid of the Red Cross funds amounting to $20.30, and this sum was handed to Mrs. Kane, she being the only Red Cross representative present, who immediately turned it over to Mrs. Dunlop, secretary-treasurer of the Coleman branch of the Red Cross Society. The donation is gratefully acknowledged by the Red Cross.
